

VINCENTIAN

the Vincentian
1956

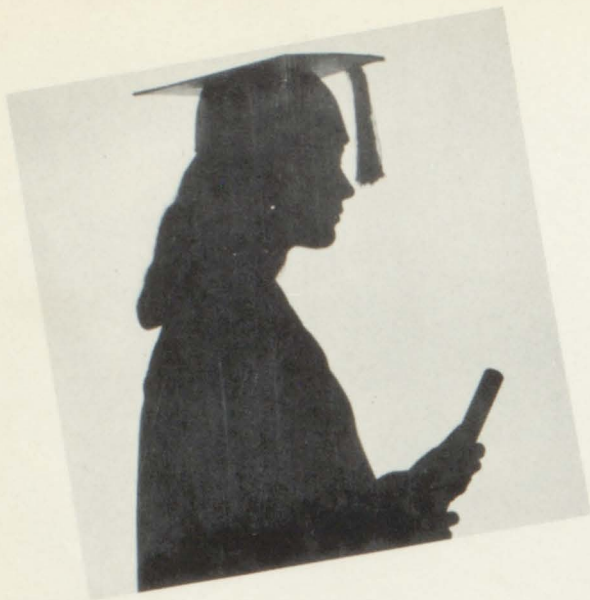

In introducing the various aspects of Christian education at St. Vincent's and in acquainting you with the workshops in which the students are developed spiritually, intellectually, and socially, we present Reflections of Christian Womanhood.

Dedication

We, the Vincentian staff of 1956, do lovingly dedicate this book to Father Kevin Nowlan, S.J., our beloved Chaplain.

His years at St. Vincent's have been devoted to the molding of Christian girls into Christian women. He has unceasingly aided us in imitation of the Blessed Mother, ever placing before us the goals of Christian education.

Contents

Here are mirrored all the reflections of the Christian woman—intellectually, spiritually, and socially complete. The minds of the students are developed with the mind of the Church; their souls are tuned to the voice of God and His Mother; their bodies are engaged in wholesome activities; their hearts are happy in Christian social life.

Our beloved sisters, the Daughters of the Cross, and our devoted lay teachers serve as the hands of God as they direct and mold their students in perfect reflection of Christian Womanhood and perfect imitation of Mary. The forceful influence of our teachers is far reaching. As each student completes her education, she takes with her the invaluable heritage of the many Christian women the Daughters of the Cross have given to the world.

This is the molding place of intellectually and morally whole Christian women. Students, in the care of skilled and devoted teachers, are trained to think with the Church and are formed in Her standards. The results of this education is informed Christian Girls—perfect reflection of Christian Womanhood.

Campus Scenes

The brightest facet in the Reflections of Christian Womanhood is that of spirituality. The Sodality, by means of sanctification of self and others, integrates spirituality into the lives of its members. It holds before them the Immaculate Model, Mary, and her Divine Son, ever encouraging a life of perfect imitation.

A vital and integral part of life at St. Vincent's is the Sodality. More than just an organization, it is a way of life; but as an active association it aims at fostering in its members an ardent devotion to the Blessed Virgin Mary. With sanctification of self, sanctification of others, and defense of the Church as the three-fold end and purpose, the Sodality strives at bringing the whole world to "Jesus through Mary."

The Sodality is not a pious union, nor a confraternity, nor a social club; it is an organization with the main task of forming lay apostles who will apply the fruits of their formation to the work of the church. In seeking its members, the Sodality of Our Lady seeks quality, not quantity.

The duties of the Sodalists are to attend with interest the scheduled meetings and to live in accordance with the rules. Spiritually, a Sodalist must use every means in the rules (daily Mass if possible, rosary, meditation) to draw herself closer to Our Lady. A Sodalist must also be an active Christian in the world devoting her time and energy to helping others.

Sodalists who live by the rules are one of the greatest forces in the world today for destroying unchristian principles and restoring Christ to His rightful position through His Blessed Mother, Mary.

This is the workshop of the leader, an integral part of Christian womanhood. At St. Vincent's, girls gather in general convocations, discussion clubs, speech and journalistic organizations, athletic associations, and honor societies to better themselves and those about them in the love of God. The vital need of Christian leaders serves as their challenge.

Student Council

The Student Council serves as the sounding board of the student body and acts as a bridge between the students and the faculty. Under the moderation of Sister Cornelia, this group is composed of the Senior class officers (of whom the president is Council Chairman), the Sodality prefect and vice-prefect, and the presidents and vice-presidents of the other classes.

Weekly these class leaders gather to discuss school problems, to institute various projects which further class cooperation, and to work toward the general aims of school unity.

Choir

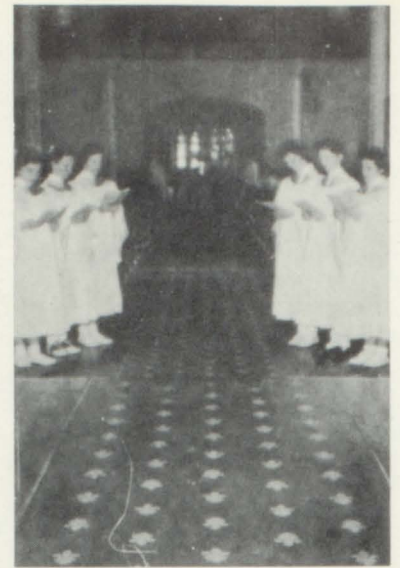

The Choir of sixty voices under the direction of Sr. Rose Marie is an integral part of St. Vincent's. This year was devoted especially to the study of Church music.

Highlights for the 1956 "Chorus Angelorum" were the Centennial Mass and the Christmas pageant. Adorned in white robes and gold stoles, the choir lent itself to these and other functions.

The St. Vincent's choir is proudly claimed as one of the most outstanding High School choirs in the South.

Flammette greeted the student body with double publication in the year of 1956. The printed pages were a cheerful change from the papers of the past.

Cake sales, apple polishing days and prayers have been the means that the staff has had to take in order to assure their school paper's appearance.

The admiration and appreciation which the staff has received from the students has made the sacrificing of their time and energy to further Christian Ideals worthwhile.

On their return to school in September, the journalists were greeted by a new press room which had been renovated to provide more space for the hard-working class.

To Read Know, and Love Good Books is the aim of this service organization. Through weekly meetings and actual work in the library each member strives to broaden her literary outlook and to open for herself new horizons of study.

Under the direction of Sister Agnes Ruth, RKL members become familiar with the library and learn to serve fellow students and their needs.

The National Honor Society is the highest honor that a student can receive during her school life. Its purpose is to develop Service, Scholarship, Leadership, and Character among the student body.

By the giving of herself in outstanding service to the school, by maintaining at least a 85 percent average in each subject, by exhibiting the qualities of leadership, and by possessing an excellent character, a girl is eligible for membership in the National Honor Society.

Class Activities

Here we shall go a bit deeper into the individual class activities to see just how the true and finished woman of character is produced.

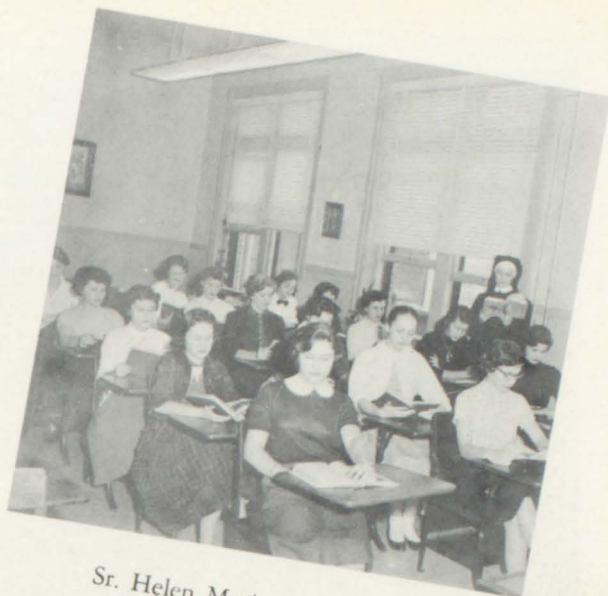

In the field of social studies, the St. Vincent's student becomes acquainted with the history and government of her own country and those of other peoples throughout the world.

Mathematics can well be acclaimed as the basis of sounding thinking and logic. It enables one to reason in both ordinary daily problems and those of a more complicated nature.

The Business Education Department consisting of shorthand, typing, and business math, plays an important part in the education at St. Vincent's. Christian principles as well as technical knowledge are stressed in these courses.

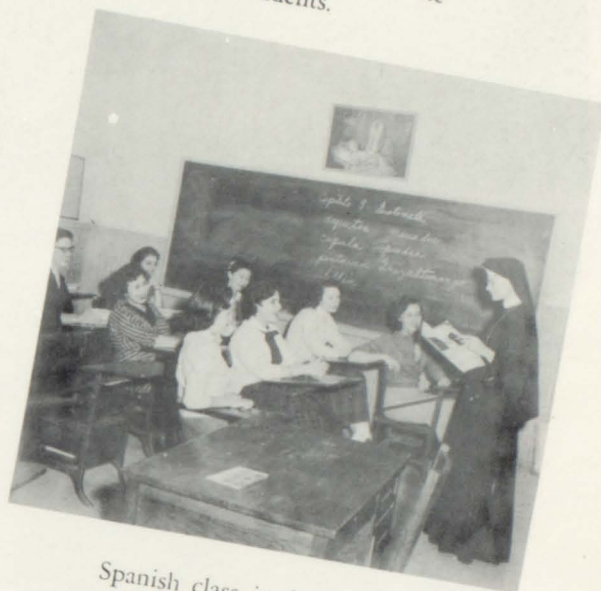

Sr. Helen Marie, Latin, and the first year students.

In studying the romance languages, a student shares more completely in the benefits of universal culture. The Knowledge of a foreign language and the study of its origin helps one to become more tolerant of other people.

Music, as are languages, is from all times and places. It also creates an understanding which binds together those who realize true music appreciation.

Sr. Mary Ann also teaches the French culture!

Miss Phillips instructs in one of the many phases of the P. E. course.

Mrs. Uffleman and class review for test.

Learning to care (?) for the patient.

The useful course of home nursing was added to the SVA curriculum this past year. The course supplied adequate knowledge so that the student might be of help at home when there is sickness.

Honor, sportsmanship, and self-control are acquired through the physical education program. These characteristics are as necessary as is the development of the body.

Miss Daly and "chemists" start the day off with a boom!!

The field of domestic science is sound preparation for the future life of a Christian homemaker, for it presents to her the art of being a good wife and mother.

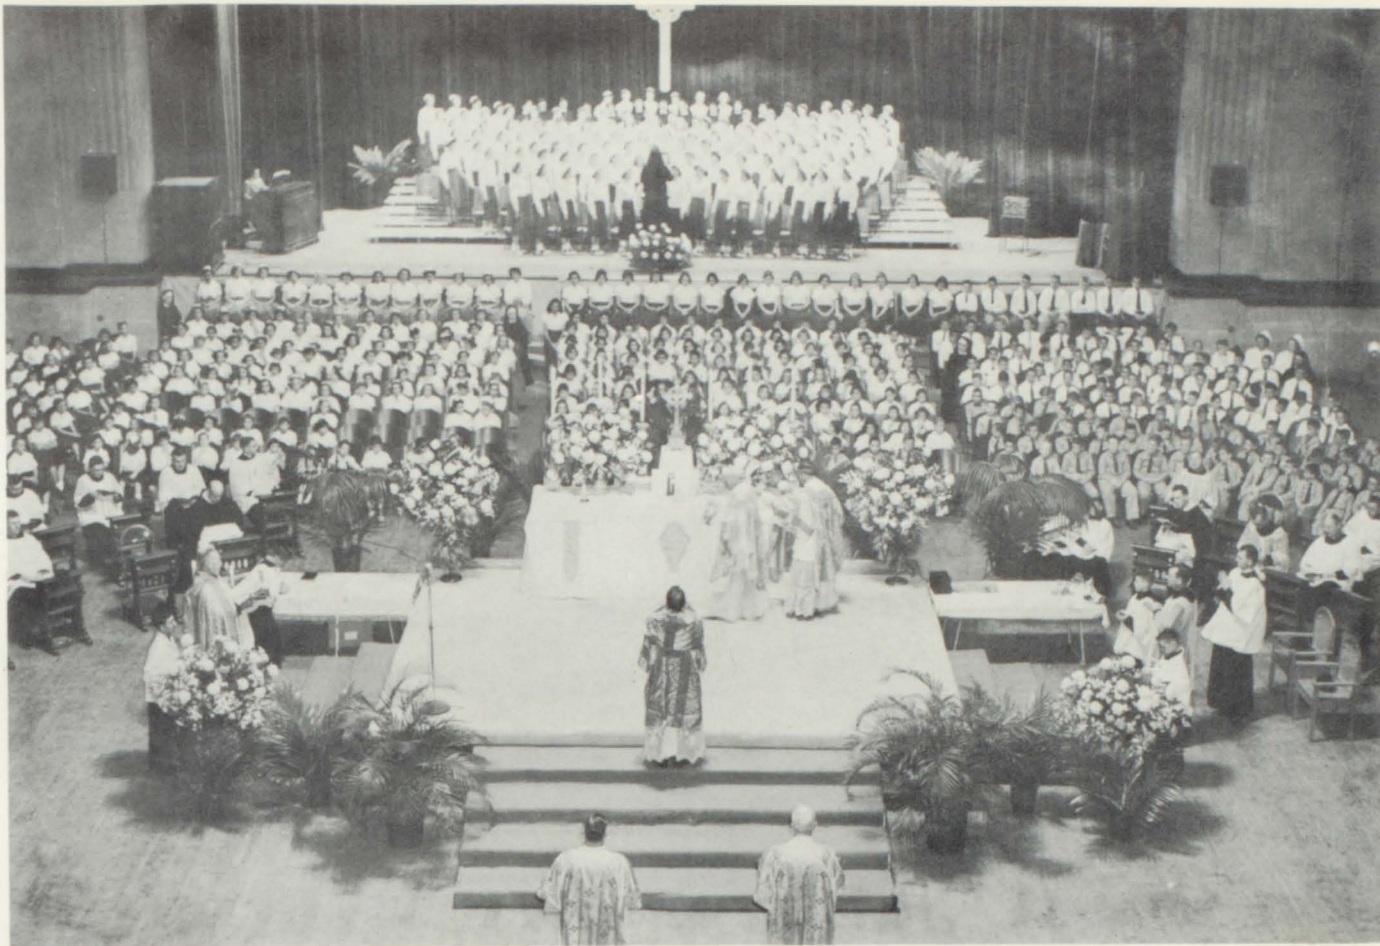

The great outdoors provides the classroom for Sister Dorothea and her biology students.

The general sciences open wide vistas to a student who seeks the explanation of life's mysterious depth. Through these studies she sees God reflected in utmost beauty, and, as in the domestic sciences, is drawn closer to Him.

Whether it be through the analysis of a test tube or through the admiration of leaf in the sunshine, girls are constantly reminded of God's omnipresence.

Here is the final reflection that complements mind-challenging classes and rigorous activities and mirrors the perfect Christian woman. These are the highlights of the social St. Vincent's year. These are the leisure moments spent at St. Vincent's by students seeking a complete Christian education.

Solemn Pontifical High Mass climaxed Centennial Celebration.

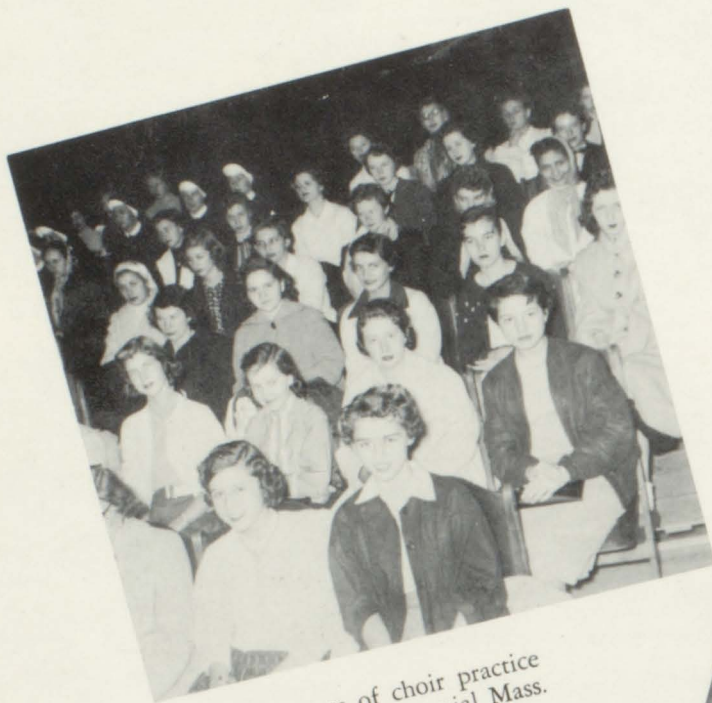

Centennial Celebration

The daughters of the Cross celebrated their 100th anniversary of missionary and educational work in Louisiana, November 9-10, 1955.

The Bishop of Alexandria officiated at the Mass.

The choir was composed of all the schools of the city conducted by the Daughters of the Cross.

A great number of friends and benefactors participated in the celebration.

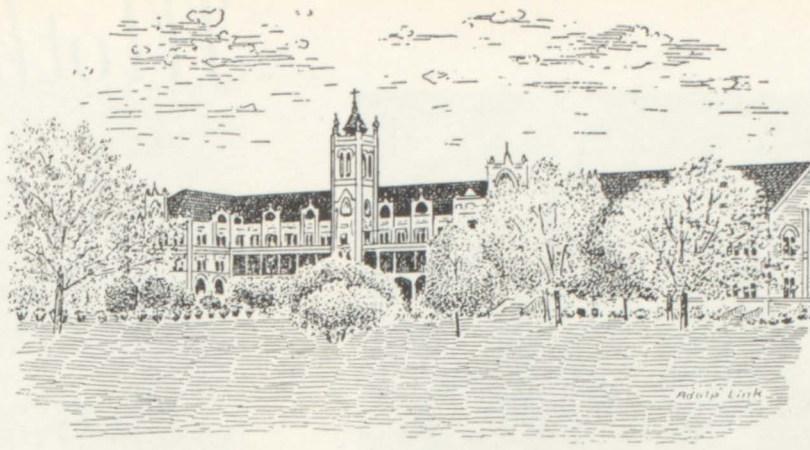

Long hours of choir practice precede the Centennial Mass.

Bishop Greco and Mother Clarissa converse at Centennial luncheon.

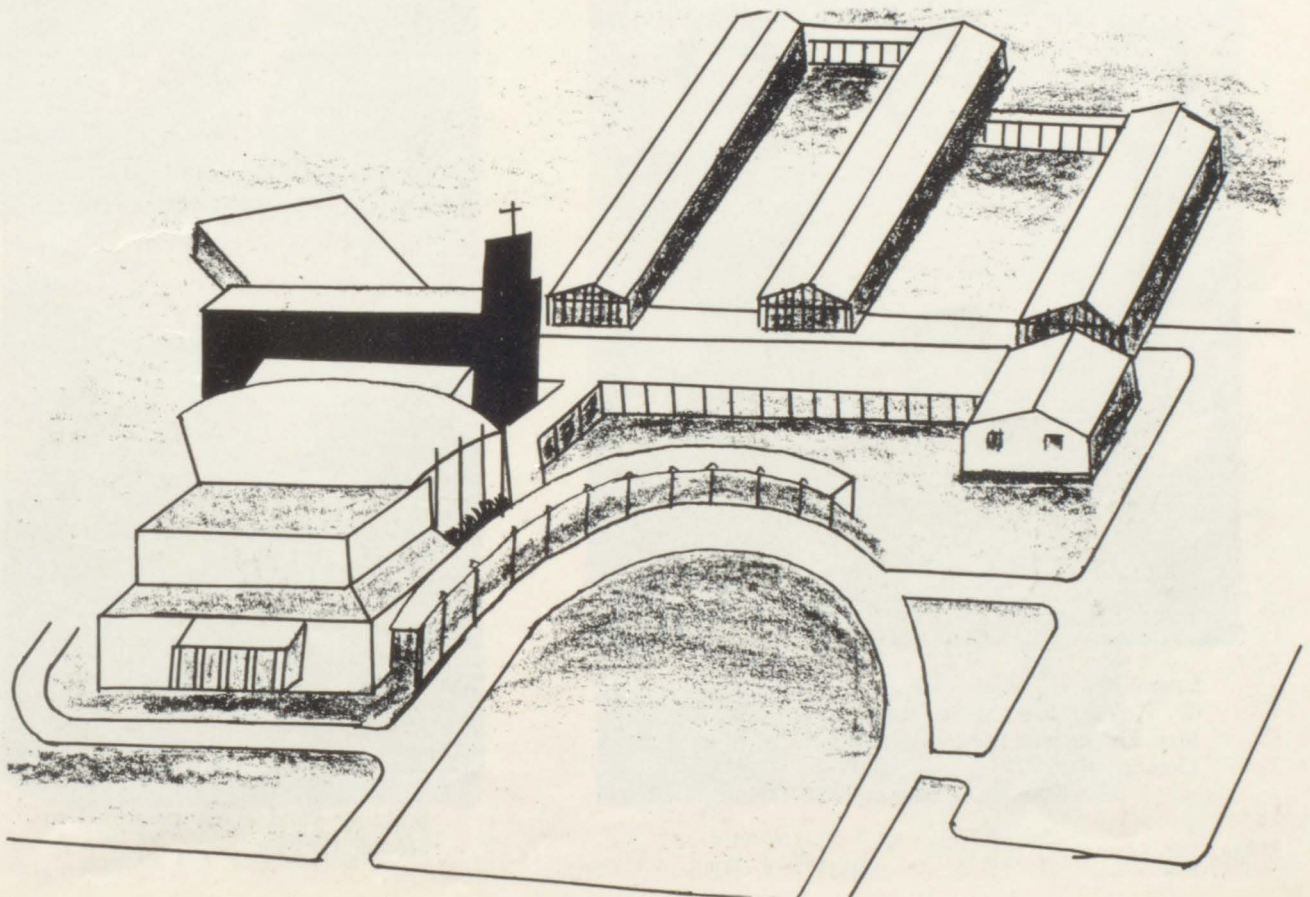

Here our Daughters of the Cross have labored untiringly, endeavoring to reproduce in the young women under their direction a reflection of the Model Christian Womanhood.

Now we must live up to these ideals!

Are we as young Christian women convinced of the need of Catholic Education in our surroundings to the extent that we are willing and generous enough to do something about it in a substantial way? The demands can be met spiritually or materially. How are we going to help make the tremendous needs of Catholic Education of Youth a reality?

Mothers' Club

President, Mrs. A. J. Turgeon; 1st. vice-president, Mrs. I. H. Farmer; 2nd. vice-president, Mrs. A. P. Whelan; treasurer, Mrs. S. H. Yauger; recording secretary, Mrs. J. Caplis; corresponding secretary, Mrs. P. Schexnaidre.

Committee chairmen: Mrs. J. J. Campbell Mrs. C. W. Holmes, Mrs. M. Balistrella, Mrs. A. P. Whelan, Mrs. G. Shepherd, Mrs. W. P. Martin, Mrs. H. G. Llorens.

Life at St. Vincent's is made not only better but also easier by an organization which is known as the "Mothers' Club." The chief purposes of this club are to foster better relations between the faculty members and parents, and to give material help to the students and school. Such aims are achieved by joint meetings attended by mothers, fathers, and teachers for various fund raising activities.

The first large project of the year was the annual bazaar which was held December 1. Proceeds from the various booths and sales were joined with those from the annual St. Patrick's tag day to boost the treasury for the needed expenses.

Building Fund check presented to Mother Clarissa.

Pelican State

Mayor V. Porteous discusses a civic project with City Council.

City Attorney, Cecilia Roach, enters her office.

The Honorable Margaret Phelps presides over District Court.

Pelican Girls' State brings together each August outstanding high school students from all over Louisiana. This great convocation of over four hundred girls teaches the duties, privileges, and responsibilities of American citizens, and helps each attending to realize her part in the world of tomorrow.

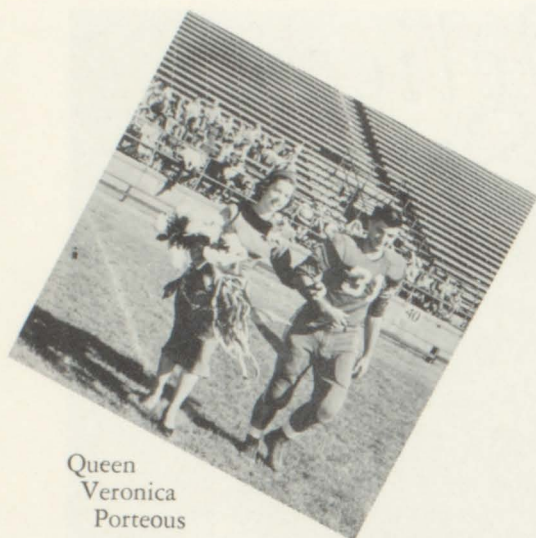

Based on the state constitution, Girls' State operates first of all on a city level, then advances to parish status, and finally climaxes with the election and proclamation of state officers.

The whole program is conducted largely by the girls, and the campaigning appears to be conducted by professionals, although it is done strictly by the girls themselves.

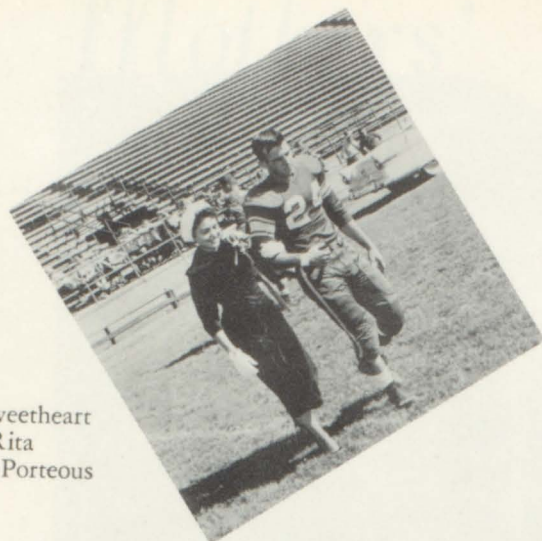

Cooperation is the greatest lesson learned during the seven days on the L. S. U. campus and good sportsmanship runs a close second. Friendliness becomes a part of a Pelican Stater, a smile constantly crossing her tired, but happy face.

Christmas Pageant

An important reminder of the Christmas spirit is the annual pageant sponsored by the Sodality.

Seeking to impart the true meaning of the Christ Child's coming to all who attend, this play through its beauty and lesson, is eagerly looked forward to by both the student body and parents.

Proceeds from the pageant are sent to the Bishop for the orphans of the diocese and are also used to finance Sodality delegates when they attend the Summer School of Catholic Action.

Starring

Our

Boarders

St. Vincent's boarding school took on a new phase in 1956 when the boarders formed their own club.

The girls specialize in seasonal parties and at the same time co-operate with the nuns in keeping school rules and being active in school events.

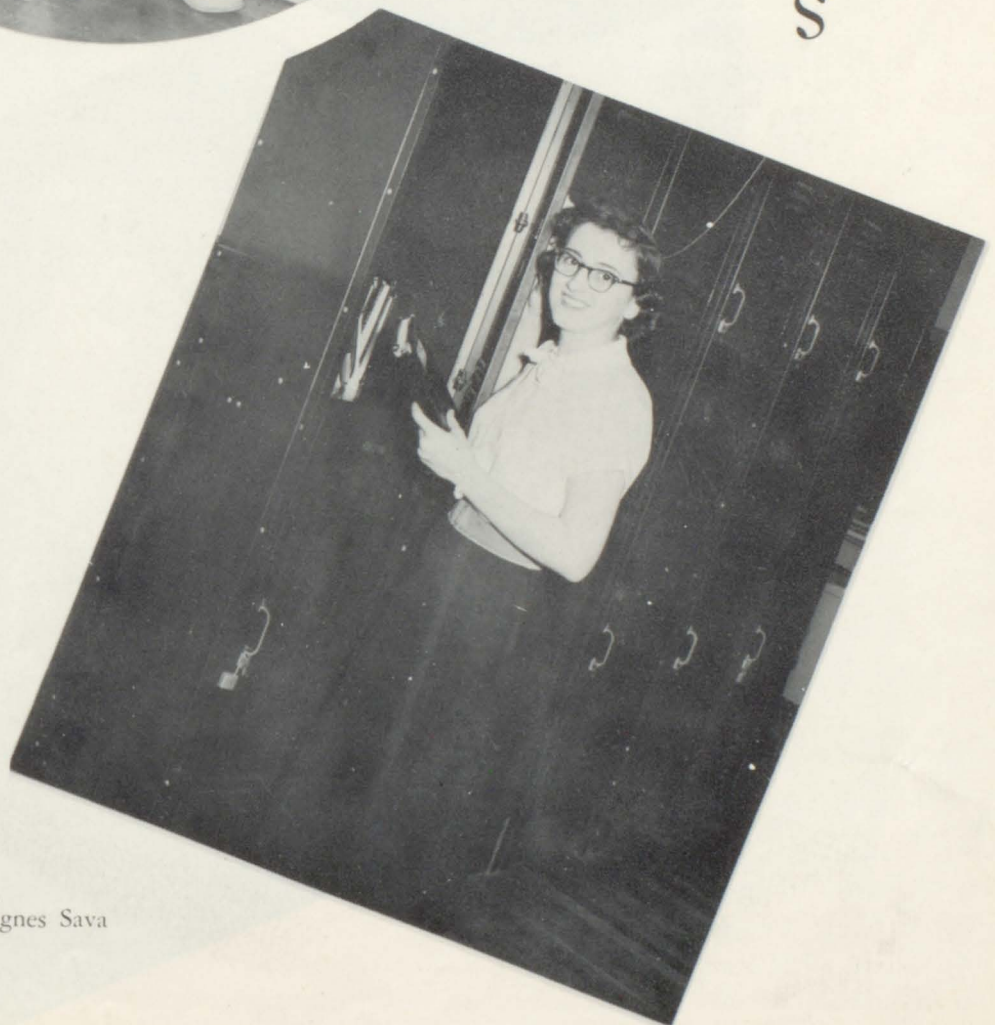

The sisters in charge of boarding school encourage the girls to thorough scholarship and to a gracious social life, to development of many interests, and to a combination of these with an intelligent, and ardent spirituality and the courage to live by it.

All St. Vincent's students are cordially invited to visit the Centenary College campus, one of the beauty spots of Shreveport.

Let HEMENWAY'S help you have your dream . . . As you planned it!

If you love fine furniture you may as well have it. There is no need to temper your taste to fit your budget. All you need is Hemenway's and foresight. Let us show you how to make the right choice the first time, with a "starter set" of basic, dual-purpose pieces; how to add more later, with the money many waste replacing pieces that have outlived their Charm and usefulness. Yes, we can show you how to have your dream—and your savings too!
